

Strychnine Training Now Available

Training under the Strychnine Stewardship Program is now available online.

The 90-minute online course, available on the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities website, is a mandatory requirement of the program.

While initial strychnine supplies will be limited this spring, those interested are encouraged to complete training ahead of the recommended late summer application window, July 15 to September 1.

For more on the program, including a list of participating RMs and information on product distribution, see the Richardson's Ground Squirrel Management page.
